

GitHub Process

Server Side

GitHub services will check your login credentials and if valid, will proceed to update your repositories storage structure along with the metadata for tracking user actions. If you view your project on GitHub the pages are generated from this data upon the http request.

GitHub Desktop